Visa information

The information relating to visa options contained in this fact sheet is current as at 10 March 2011. Australian law may change after this time resulting in a change in visa options.

While this fact sheet provides an outline of the most common business visas, please note there are many visa options available for visiting Australia. The appropriate visa will depend, amongst other things, on the person's purpose for visiting.

All visitors to Australia must have a valid visa to travel to and enter Australia (other than New Zealand passport holders, who will normally be issued a Special Category visa on arrival, provided they meet health and character requirements; and permanent residents of Norfolk Island who may be granted a Permanent Resident of Norfolk Island visa on arrival).

Visa options

The passport which you hold determines whether you can apply online, or if you need to lodge a paper-based application.

Your role at the event will also help determine which visa type is the most suitable between the Tourist and Business visa.

1. Tourist visa - is the most suitable option for amateur competitors and others whose only purpose is to attend/observe the event.
2. Business visa - is the most suitable option for professional competitors, officials, coaches or support staff.

Things to consider before lodging an application

Health and character requirements

All visa applicants must be assessed against Australia's health and character requirements. These requirements are designed to protect the safety and security of the Australian community.

Health requirements

As part of the visa application process you may be required to undertake a medical examination, chest x-ray and/or other health checks.

The department will advise you of the applicable health checks (if any), based on your individual circumstances.

Information on which health checks may apply to you is available at www.immi.gov.au/allforms/pdf/1163i.pdf

If you have a significant health condition and you are concerned that you may not meet the health requirement for an Australian visa, at least four months prior to the event start date.

Character requirements

As part of the visa application process, you must show that you are of good character.

Information on the character test is available at www.immi.gov.au/media/fact-sheets/79character.htm

If you have any criminal convictions in any country, you should lodge a paper-based application at the Australian visa office nearest to your current place of residence, at least four months before the event start date.

Contact information for Australian visa offices is available at www.immi.gov.au/contacts/overseas/index.htm

Travel sanctions

Nationals of countries subject to travel sanctions may not be permitted to travel to and enter Australia. For information on countries subject to travel sanctions, please see the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade's website at www.dfat.gov.au/un/unsc_sanctions/index.html

Biometrics Program

From December 2010, Biometrics will need to be collected at an Australian Visa Application Centre for visitors lodging a paper-based visa application from the countries listed at the department's website at <http://www.immi.gov.au/allforms/biometrics/offshore/countries.htm>

Invitation/registration to attend the event

Although this is a separate process to lodging your visa application, the department may take into account whether you are registered, or have been invited, to attend the event, when assessing whether you meet the criteria for the grant of a visa.

Confirmation of registration, or a copy of your letter of invitation, should accompany your paper-based visa application.

Date for lodging paper based applications

All visitors should apply for a visa at least two months prior to the intended date of departure, and four months prior for people with health/character concerns. Visa applications lodged after 1 October 2011 may not be decided in time for visitors to attend the event.

Obligations of visa holders

On arrival at Australia's border you must identify yourself, present your travel documents, and complete an Incoming Passenger Card (IPC). The IPC requires visitors to declare their health status and any prior criminal convictions.

If you do not meet immigration clearance requirements, you may be refused entry to Australia.

More information on immigration clearance processes at Australia's borders is available at www.immi.gov.au/managing-australias-borders/border-security/air/airport.htm

You must comply with your visa validity and visa conditions while in Australia. For paper-based applications, this information is available either on your visa label or in the letter informing you that you have been granted a visa. For online applications, it is available on the letter or email confirming the grant of your visa.

If you breach these conditions, your visa may be cancelled.

If your visa expires while you are still in Australia, you become an unlawful non-citizen. Unlawful non-citizens are liable to be detained and removed from Australia.
